

THE FOOD CONSERVATION
CAMPAIGN

The campaign for the "recruiting" of women under the banner of the Lowell women's council of the national defense committee for the conservation of food is finished in this city and the women in charge are elated over the result obtained. The number of signatures of housekeepers and women over 16 years of age obtained was 10,750, which means that practically every house in Lowell has been visited by the volunteer canvassers.

The campaign for the securing of names in closed which means that the food conservation campaign is in full swing and that the housekeepers of the city are now doing and will do their utmost until the end of the war to avoid waste of food. The cards bearing the signatures of the women were packed up and sent to Boston late Saturday afternoon and later they will be sent to Washington, D. C. The work of the Lowell committee is by no means finished, for the women of this city have undertaken the project of establishing a public vegetable market, which represents one of the war aims to be obtained at the war with headquarters in Merrimack street and beginning next week bulletins will be issued as to what vegetables are plentiful and as soon as the market is established considerable valuable information will be given the public.

PLANS TO CONSERVE SUPPLY AND STIMULATE PRODUCTION OF SHEEP AND WOOL

CHICAGO, July 23.—Plans to conserve the supply and stimulate the production of sheep and wool were discussed today at a joint meeting of the state council of national defense and packers, cloth and clothing manufacturers and other allied industries.

The meeting was called in answer to assertions that unless effort was made immediately to increase the output a wool scarcity would ensue which would hamper seriously the government in supplying the army with clothing and blankets.

Means of overcoming shortage and combating high prices of cotton, food, horses and motor vehicles, due to the war, also were before the semi-annual convention here of the United Mercantile Stores association.

DRAFTED MEN
MAY ENLIST

Eligibles May Volunteer Until Called for Examination Next Week

First Men Go to Regular Army—Exemption Plans Completed

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Those selected for service under the draft will be permitted to enlist in the regular army or National guard at any time prior to their summons for examination before exemption boards, probably 10 days hence, Provost Marshal General Crowder announced last night. They will not be allowed to join the Marine corps.

The first men actually drafted will be detailed to the regular army in order to bring that branch up to its full war strength of 300,000, if the 35,000 enlistments needed are not obtained before examinations begin. The National Guard will next be filled.

Exemption machinery for virtually the entire country is complete.

The provost marshal general's office said last night that the names of members of the apprentice boards in the last of the states probably would be announced today.

The work of checking up and revising the draft sheets continued here yesterday. The government's big printing establishment has been working at top speed since Friday, preparing official lists of the 10,500 numbers and officers reading proof on the long tables said yesterday they would probably be ready for mailing by tonight.

Every board in the country will have a copy of the official draft lists before the end of the week.

As soon as each board has its official copy it will send out notifications to those men named on the lists to appear for physical examination. This work ought to be well underway within a few days, and the men in Massachusetts who will be called for examination within 10 days or two weeks.

Here is what every man ought to do when he appears up near the top of the list, as explained by an army officer today.

Such men should immediately find their local board office and verify the order in which their number came. Then, if they intend to file a claim for exemption or discharge, they should look carefully over the regulations or ask some one in charge about the claim they intend to file.

The officer in charge will give them a blank form, on which they must file their claim, and any other forms necessary out of which to make out affidavits in support of it.

Must Appear on Date Set

Their next duty will be to wait until they receive their notice of call. If they have moved from the address they gave on registration day they should either notify the local board, have jurisdiction over them, or arrange for forwarding of any mail sent to their old address. Within seven days after the date this notice is sent, those who wish to make a claim for exemption or discharge must do so. They then have 10 days more in which to file affidavits proving their claim. The man can file the affidavits himself or have the district board do it, and then appear for physical examination on the date specified in the call. Otherwise they violate the selective service act and render themselves subject to the same penalty they would have incurred had they failed to register on June 5.

Those who have only industrial or agricultural claims should not make their claims to the local boards. If these are the only claims they can make they must wait until they receive notice that they have been certified to the district boards. Within five days after this notice is mailed they must file their industrial or agricultural claims with the district board to which they have been certified. They then have five additional days in which to file affidavits supporting their claims. The regular forms that must be used for these affidavits can be obtained from the headquarters of the district board.

Status of Married Men

The law does not limit filing of claims to the party called. A man's wife or his friend may file the claim for him if they believe he is entitled to a discharge of exemption which no one is expected to claim for him.

Claims for registration estimated that 46 per cent of the men between the ages of 21 and 31 are married.

No official attempt beyond the draft regulations has been made to define the exact status married men need to secure discharge. It is certain that men whose wives are not dependent on their labor for support will be accepted for service.

It will be up to the local boards to determine to what extent a wife depends on her husband's labor, and they will judge this according to the nature of the affidavits filed.

Married men are warned against falsifying these affidavits. The federal government will vigorously prosecute all cases where there is evidence of perjury. This policy, it is said, will also be applied to men in charge of industries who grossly exaggerated the importance of employees called by the draft.

A number of industrial corporations throughout the country are preparing to force through exemption for every employee possible who is called.

The exemption machinery in every section of the country is being rapidly perfected and officials here believe they will be ready to take up exemption cases in every state in the Union within the next 3 or 10 days.

Checking Tally Sheets

Checking the official tally sheets of the draft was about complete today and printing the master sheets which will guide local exemption boards in summoning the men for the first increments of 36,000 troops, expected early next month. The sheets probably will start out in the mails late today.

Regulations to govern the application of the master list by the local exemption boards already have been promulgated and include a method by which any difficulties arising from the condition of serial numbers are to be overcome. The plan is to regard such registration cards as additional to the number already provided and the local lists. A separate drawing will be held by state authorities to place these additional cards and such other cards as may have come in by mail since July 1. In order as these are drawn, they will be compared with the registration lists of their district and be immediately affected by the selection drawing of last Friday just as though they had been included in the list at that time.

Officials of Provost Marshal General Crowder's office were preparing today for the great number of inquiries and requests for rulings which they expect from the local boards as soon as examinations of the men for the first increments begin. Officials will take several days for the boards to become thoroughly familiar with their work. After that officials expect the examinations of men or exemptions of men or their certification to the higher boards to be completed within a week after the local boards begin operations the district boards also will be able to begin their work and take up questions of industrial exemptions as rapidly as they arise.

SIAM AT WAR WITH CENTRAL POWERS

LONDON, July 23.—Siam has declared that a state of war exists with Germany and Austria, according to a Rauter despatch from Bangkok. Nine steamers, aggregating 19,000 tons, have been seized.

The object of Siam's declaration is to uphold the neutrality of international relations against nations showing contempt for the principles of humanity and respect for small states.

All Germans and Austrians, the despatch adds, have been placed under arrest and their businesses closed.

Siam, "the land of free," a kingdom of southeastern Asia, has a population of probably more than 8,000,000. Universal liability to military service is in force in all the provinces. The peace strength of the army is about 12,000 men, while the navy consists nominally of 21 vessels, all of small size. In peace there are 5,000 men available for service afloat, besides 10,000 in the army. In the 19th century diplomatic relations were established with the United States and the European nations.

John Potts, 17 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Potts of Pleasant street, Dracut, was accidentally drowned while bathing in Island pond, Peabody, N. H., yesterday afternoon. His body was recovered later in about three feet of water.

Potts, in company with Leo Roth of Dracut, Joseph Neary of Lowell and Russell Greenleaf and William Dugan of Lawrence, went to Island pond yesterday, and while his companion swam out quite a distance to dive and swim from the boat, he remained on shore, not being able to swim. When the boys returned from their bathing excursion they failed to find Potts and a search around the various cottages was made, but without result. Finally Potts' body was found lying in about three feet of water. After the remains had been viewed by Medical Referee B. G. Moran, they were removed to the home of the parents.

EXEMPTION BOARDS

times the entire board, itself, will be subjected to influences that will require of them the utmost honesty, integrity, fairness and justice. Not impossible, however, are occasions (it is not rare) when avaricious, devices and inducement which a base and ignoble mind can devise will be used to induce them to turn from the path of their duty.

It is not supposed that any member of the local board will yield himself to such influences, but all such influences will tend to hinder and obstruct the due administration of the law. It is well, however, to have to mind that among the more apparent ways of putting an end to such influences are:

1. A determination of which the public service does not only to look with the greatest disfavor upon such influences, but also to scrutinize with the utmost care all claims advanced by or on behalf of the person whose exemption is in question. It is brought to your certain that he does not escape service unless his real disabilities absolutely require it.

2. An absolute refusal to discuss any question connected with the course of a boy's life by any person not a member of the board or representing the government, except at and during a public meeting of the board.

3. An impartial practice of referring to the several subcommittees of the board either corruptly or improperly attempting to influence the board in the exercise of its duties and functions, so that the full penalties of the law may be applied to such persons.

There has been more or less discussion as to whether or not a person who has taken out his first papers is liable to be drafted. He certainly is, according to the rules and regulations practiced by the various local and district boards, section 11 reads:

"Such draft as herein provided shall be based upon liability to military service of all male citizens, or male persons not alien enemies who have declared their intention to become citizens, between the ages of 18 and 30 years, both inclusive, and shall take place as is maintained under such regulations as the president may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this act."

No subjects of Germany, however, whether or not he has taken out his initial papers will be drafted, for the regulations provide that they are not.

The subject of Germany residing in the United States, whether he has taken out his first papers or not, will be accepted for service. When in the opinion of a local board a subject of Germany whether or not has or has not declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, or whether or some other person in respect of him, or has or has not filed a claim of exemption, he shall be exempted and a certificate of complete exemption issued to him.

Wives as Dependents

There was a difference of opinion relative to wives being generally considered as dependents, even though they have no children, if their physical condition is good and they are capable of earning their own living. Up to the present time the exemption of a married man is discretionary on the part of the members of the boards after they have made the necessary inquiries into the case.

Again, it was said that the Massachusetts law compels men to support their wives, and that, therefore, any married woman is a dependent. This was the view of one of the members present. Another spoke of a case wherein the wife in question is possessed of considerable means, while the husband is not forced to support her. In that case, it was felt, the wife could not be considered as a dependent in any way.

Judge Enright was specially emphatic relative to the non-exemption of men, of whatever race, who have taken out their first papers. Such men he said, are liable to service, provided they pass the physical test and are not considered as dependents. All men who have taken out their first papers, except Germans or their allies, who are classed as enemy aliens, must be considered as eligible, said the judge.

Physical Examinations

Physical examinations will be made by two physicians, one of them the physician of the board, and in cases where the two physicians reject a man as physically unfit the members of the board may refuse to accept their statements and accept the man for service. However, in cases where the physicians pass the man as physically fit, then the members of the boards must accept that decision and accept the man so far as physical condition enters into the matter of acceptance.

If the computations from the governor's office are correct, but 334 men will be drafted from this city. The figures are that 341 men will be drawn from district one, which comprises wards 1, 6 and 9; 85 from district two, comprising wards 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8 and 9; 103 from district three, comprising wards 4, 7 and 8, and 68 from district four, which is confined to ward 6.

In the governor's figures he gives credit to 912 men to the city of Lowell, making its total quota for arm service of 1266. This does not take into consideration those whose have enlisted in the service, as at the present the draft is for the army alone.

At yesterday's meeting it was stated that the public will be instantly informed as to the time for the opening of sessions for the examination of drafted men.

More Draft Numbers

The following list of names in addition to those which appeared in The Sun on Saturday represent the first half of those drawn in article two and three, and as Lowell's draft liability is 354, the registrants whose names do not appear either in Saturday's or today's lists can make up their minds that they will not be drawn.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor,
SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.
Member of the Associated Press

THE WAR DRAFT

The drawing for the new American armies is now an accomplished fact. It was brought about with admirable celerity and fairness. Every possible precaution was taken to make it honest. There was no opportunity for juggling or favoritism, absolutely no chance to fix things so some youngster with social pull, a fat bank account or political prominence might be set either ahead or behind others.

Numbers which applied alike to every district in the United States were put into capsules placed in a large glass bowl. These capsules were constantly stirred by a blindfolded man. Another blindfolded man drew them out one by one.

The numbers were then publicly announced in the presence of army officers charged with the duty, the military committees of congress, and representatives of the newspapers.

These numbers are applied in the same order in the most crowded cities and in the most sparsely populated plains of the west.

They are determined by a true lottery. By this means, rich and poor, the New York millionaire, the Arizona irrigation trench digger and the Lowell mill operative were placed upon the same plane.

This is the American plan which declares all men born free and equal in their political and legal rights, and, by the same process of thought, implies that all are alike equal in the responsibilities of American citizenship. As a result every man of army age now knows approximately when he will be called up for examination for army service. His number is one of honor. It indicates his place in the American reservoir of man-power.

Those in the first batch are especially to be envied by true patriots as theirs is the first opportunity to serve their country.

That is what the draft at Washington meant for our young manhood, for America, and for the world. It was made a solemn occasion, rightly. When men are thrilled to the soul with the fervor of the deepest patriotism, when they are performing a rite which determines the highest service of our best and bravest, it is fitting that there shall be no silly pomp.

But this drawing is but preliminary. It puts all available men on record as such, and the real draft will come subsequently from the exemption boards, who will have to select the men who will be called upon to enter the service of the United States. Those boards will name men for the draft list in the order of precedence in which they were drawn at Washington.

Hence, it is plain that the only interest in the present list is, that it shows in what order the men will be drafted, assuming that they are chosen by the exemption boards.

Hence, the registrants will all have to visit the offices of their respective exemption boards in order to receive instructions as to what is required of them. In the first place, it is arranged to notify the registrants by mail. On their appearance before the exemption boards they will enter upon the course of examination which is to decide whether they will be drafted or exempted.

Alien enemies and aliens not eligible will not be subject to physical examination. In other cases the first step will be to decide the question of physical fitness. Other considerations will be taken up later. Thus will the great army of the United States be made up; but it is stated that the men now to be drafted for training will not be ready for the field till next spring. The war may wind up before that time.

We are face to face with a great epoch in the world's history, a great cataclysm in the progress of civilization. It is a conflict between the principle that might makes right and that of justice to all men and all nations in a general declaration of world freedom based upon the consent of the governed.

Millions of men have already been sacrificed, and the end is not yet in sight, but as to the ultimate triumph of world freedom there can be no doubt. The war will prove expensive to the United States, but whereas it will have immensely weakened every other power involved, it will only serve to strengthen the United States and to put the people in a condition to defend our institutions against the very worst possibilities that can arise and to prepare us to meet any economic upheaval that may follow the war. It can hereafter be said that the entrance of the United States to this war, and that alone, will decide the war in favor of world democracy and freedom. In that light the glory that will redound to this nation as the world liberator and the savior of civilization against German domination, conquest and commercial exploitation will mark an imperishable epoch in our history.

THE DRAFT IN LOWELL

There seems to be a misunderstanding here in Lowell relative to the drawing of draft numbers at Washington. By many it is supposed that the persons whose numbers are drawn, barring exemptions, are thereby selected for service. Such is not the case, for the numbers drawn include the entire 10,000,000 registered throughout the nation, and the war department does not want to call that number nor even one tenth of that number.

The registered men in each district, whether city or town in the United States will be called for examination by the exemption boards in the order in which their numbers were drawn at Washington. The numbers in the districts range from one up to 10,000. The men numbered 268, the first number to be drawn, will be called first and then the others in the sequence in which their respective numbers were drawn until the required quota is made up. The highest number in the Lowell districts is 3,222. None higher applies here.

To find whether any registered man is likely to be drafted, look up where his number came in the list of numbers drawn. His liability to draft will vary with his distance from the first number. It is considered probable that the first 2000 to 2500 numbers drawn will give the nation all the men needed. Owing to the small quota from Lowell the first 1000 numbers drawn will surely furnish the required number of men. The numbers drawn in The Sun of Friday, Saturday and today will probably include all likely to be selected in Lowell.

Here in Lowell the situation is not alarming as to the number of men required. It is announced now, that cities with a population over 30,000 will be credited with their enlisted men. It appears also that Lowell's credit for enlistments is $12, which deducted from the original quota of 1266, leaves only 354 to be drafted. At first it was reckoned at 752, and, if the lower figures prove to be correct, the draft will not be nearly so serious to Lowell as was at first supposed.

MOVING PICTURES

Some weeks ago President Wilson appointed William A. Brady, the motion picture magnate, to organize the motion picture industry so as to cooperate with the committee on public information in disseminating intelligence bearing upon the war. As the pictures speak a universal language, they can be used to great advantage in showing military movements and other features of training for actual warfare. Needless to say, Mr. Brady accepted the task very cordially, so that in due time the people of this country will see the results of his work. It is understood, however, that the main object of President Wilson's action in the matter is to provide amusement and instruction for the men in training. This shows another very useful application of the moving picture film. Mr. Brady has made the statement that the picture industry has been developed to the utmost except along educational lines, but it is being applied to this purpose even now in many of the western states. It is peculiarly adapted for instruction, especially in the graphic arts, in such subjects as physical geography, natural history and many industrial lines.

It does not require an effort of the imagination to see how the movies may be successfully applied in conveying instruction in the sciences and other branches of a general education. The time is not far distant when the school department of every city will be equipped to illustrate many subjects of instruction by moving pictures. There can be no doubt that by a skillful application of the movies in the class room, the course of study in the elementary schools can be shortened by at least one year.

Teachers look forward with great hopefulness to the time when, by the use of the film, they may be able to interest and instruct children who seem to resist all efforts in that direction by present methods.

SEEN AND HEARD

The Lewiston Journal rises to remark that many a man wears an athletic union suit who couldn't lick his weight in tapioca pudding.

Asked to write a sentence containing the words "blister end," Jimmie wrote: "The dog chased the cat under the piazza and bit her end."

Here's a good one for everyone to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest. "Think big, talk little, love much, laugh easily, work hard, give freely, pay cash and be kind; do these, and you need not worry about the future.

The old chestnut about "General Humidity" is now reasonable. "As She Sees It," in the Courier-Citizen, Gen. Hugh Scott may be in Russia, but we know where Gen. Hugh Midd le—"Nota Bene," in the same the next day—"What a perfect symphony!"

Take It Or Leave It

You must "take it or leave it" in Spain's big department stores now, says the Spanish Chronicle.

No longer can the blissful shopper wander at will through the aisle after aisle of bargains, ordering all she fancies and leaving the store empty-handed.

Following out a suggestion of the Council of National Defense, made as a war economy measure, Spokane merchants have decided to abolish the return-goods privilege.

Very Good Story

The following is one of the best stories I have heard showing how the quick-witted Belgians succeeded in taking a "rise" out of their German oppressors.

A peasant with a donkey cart was ordered by a German guard at the entrance of a town to give the name of his donkey, so that it might be entered in the official pass book.

"My donkey's name," exclaimed the peasant, scratching his head. "He hasn't got one."

"Well, then, call him Albert," suggested the guard.

"That would be a reflection on my king."

"Call him William then."

"That would be a reflection on my donkey."

The Box She Dropped

She was young, good looking, well dressed. He was young, good looking, not quite so well dressed—but that doesn't matter.

If he had taken a seat

when she entered the car and stood opposite him. He jumped up and touched the girl's arm with a polite "Take this seat," which she prepared to do. But preparations included removing a bundle of books and shifting from one arm to the other a huge sport coat she was carrying.

Unfortunate shift! From a pocket of her coat to the floor at the feet of the hero slipped an ever so many folding box of cigarettes. He stood, picked it up and offered it to her, covering it with his hand as he did so to save her possible embarrassment for he was a gentleman.

She drew back, reddening.

"Why, they're not mine," she said, surprised and indignant in her voice.

"I have just torn from your pocket," the man insisted, still thrusting the offending box toward her.

"But I tell you they're not."

"You're quite mistaken, I—why I—" Her dejected trail of material into nothingness was being taken together with one hand the shreds of her self-possession and with the other her coat and books she sought refuge from curious eyes in the seat he had proffered, murmuring "dignified" "Thank you."

"Well, if this is keepers," he was heard to murmur, as nonchalantly pocketing the cigarettes, he strolled to the end of the car to read his paper.

LITTLE ROMANCE IN GYPSY CAMP

The gypsies are camping in Tewksbury. Which would be of no immediate import if it were not for the fact that a pretty little romance has developed between two of the members of the band and, like many other romances, it has been somewhat shattered by the matter of fact attitude of the father of the young lady involved. Here's the scenario:

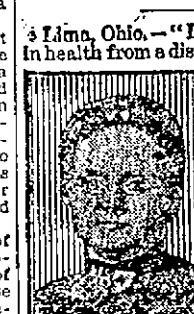

Several weeks ago Mary Merino, as fair a gypsy lady as one could wish for, was married to one John Thompson. To make the affair more romantic, the gypsy marriage ritual, which is of a very simple nature and not wholly in accordance with the laws of this country, was employed by the couple. The girl's father would not sanction this form of ceremony, however, and the couple were ordered to marry according to duly recognized methods. The other members of the band did not agree with him with the result that he was practically alone in the stand which he had taken. He was not to be defeated, however, and after a conference with a local attorney he had the girl brought to the police station in Market street Friday afternoon on the charge of being a stubborn child.

The young man in the case was out of town at the time, and when the stern papa saw his daughter in a gloomy cell he became indignant, and set to have her released. After an assurance that Thompson would return within a week and that the couple would be married according to American custom, the local officials allowed the young lady to go on her recognition. The case was continued a week.

Saturday morning five members of the band arrayed in their most grotesque costumes came to the office of the police court to discuss the case with the officials. When the agreement which had been reached previously was explained to them, they announced that Thompson would be on hand surely within a few days. Persons who happened to be in the office at the time were somewhat startled when they saw one of the lady members smoking a pipe with all the ease of an experienced smoker, and when the occasion required she expectorated with the assurance becoming an expert at the business.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, should take the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

U.S. AIRFORCES IN FRANCE UNDER SINGLE HEAD

IS. July 23.—Plans have been made for bringing all American air forces here under a single direction, working in conjunction with other military units. Airplane squadrons will be divided into two classes, tactical and strategic. The former will operate within a range of 26 kilometers and the latter within a range of 200 kilometers.

The tactical units will co-operate directly with the troops, doing preliminary reconnoitering, pursuing enemy aviators, and bombing railroads and arsenals.

The strategic squadrons in general will operate independently, will be engaged in destroying enemy defenses and attacking supply bases, depots and factories. They will also take part in squadron fighting and day and night bombardments.

Observation balloons will be used largely as an adjunct to the artillery, and in order to herald the names of our American officers except Major General Pershing and Major General Sibert to be mentioned in news despatch.

His Testimonial

Now Freely Given
A Well Known Lowell Man Pays a Glowing Tribute to Plant Juice

A great specialist at one time, compared the human system to a delicate piece of mechanism, saying: "The dues need cleaning, the valves re-adjusting, the shafts oiling, and the drive-wheel more energy."

Off to the front!

This order will be issued to the members of the O.M.I. Cadets next Monday morning, and the boys are busy this week getting ready for the call. This year the young soldiers will have the experience of camping while the country is at war, and hence more importance is attached to the plan than ever before.

While military tactics predominated always, this year many new and novel military maneuvers will occur on the program. The various branches of modern warfare will be taken up.

The boys will receive detailed instructions and training in trench digging, etc.

Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., chaplain, will be present during the entire week, and will have general supervision of the encampment. He will be assisted by Physical Instructor Matt McCann, Joseph Boyd, School of Competitive Swimming, and nurses.

First orders will be issued at an important meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. Major Conroy and Fr. Sullivan will speak, and every boy who intends to go to camp must be on hand.

JOSEPH OUELETTE

Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, now being introduced here, may be likened to the human repair shop. It puts the stomach, the keynote of the human system, in perfect repair, causing it to digest the food properly, corrects constipation, purifies the blood, eliminates uric acid—the cause of rheumatism, purifies the skin—pores and lets out the poison, cleans the system, stimulates the kidneys, and puts a sluggish liver back to performing its proper functions, thereby laying the foundation for a new lease of life.

That Plant Juice is doing this work, and doing it well, the testimonials of grateful people, who have been benefited, prove most conclusively. Day by day more people are coming forward with signed statements regarding this truly wonderful preparation.

The other day, Mr. Joseph Ouellette, who resides at the Navy Yard at Lowell, and is a well known farmer, having a wide acquaintance in this city, stated:

"I have suffered for nine years with my stomach, and all the food I ate seemed to ferment and cause gas to form; I was in such pain that I could not sleep at night and felt weak and all tired out; I finally got so bad that I had to quit my work; I had headaches, was nervous and dizzy, had palpitation, and at times it seemed as if I could hardly get my breath; I thought I had heart trouble. I began to take Plant Juice, upon the recommendation of a friend, and now am feeling the best I have ever been; now eat all I want without the least distress afterwards, I sleep well and the gas left my system. I am recommending Plant Juice to everyone who is troubled with their stomach, liver or kidneys. It certainly is a wonder."

The Plant Juice man is at Dow's Drug Store, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

O'CONNOR TELLS WHY IRISH FIGHT FOR ALLIES

BOSTON, July 23.—"I am unable to understand on what kind of blood the Irishman is composed, who does not resent the butchered priests, the violated convents, the trampled liberties of little Belgium," said T. P. O'Connor, the famous home rule leader, at the dinner given in his honor Saturday evening by William F. Fitzgerald at the Algonquin club.

Mr. O'Connor spoke at length on the reasons why the Irish party to which he and Mr. Redmond belonged were with the allies from the time great Britain entered the war. The first principle actuating them, he said, was their belief in government by consent of the governed, as laid down in the Declaration of Independence.

He continued in part: "Irish nationalists are bound by principle and traditions to the principle that the rights of great and small nations are the same. Superiority of might did not give Germany the right to invade Belgium, whose neutrality had been guaranteed by Germany and all other European powers."

HEARING ON TRADING WITH ENEMY BILL

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A senate sub-committee today began hearings on administration trading with the enemy bill, already passed by the house, with Secretary Redfield and others appearing to advocate prompt action.

The bill is patterned after Great Britain's trading with the enemy act. Most features are prohibitions against business intercourse with any country with which the United States is at war or its allies except under license and provision for governmental seizure of property of alien enemies and enemy neutrals.

"Some of my race regard my position as wrong. But whatever he may have thought in the past, I cannot understand how any American of Irish blood and aspirations can ask where he is to stand in this war."

One Course for an Irishman

"I believe America is rightly in this war. Her honor and her security are in it. If you are loyal American citizens you cannot be on any side in this war save the American side. You cannot be both pro-German and pro-American. You must make your choice. All discussion is now out of the moment. The nation entered the war."

"To my mind there can be only one course for an Irishman or an American with Irish blood in his veins—be on the side of principle, of nationality, or the rights of small nations, be on the side of the allies."

"I do not think that England has been very cruel to Ireland in the past and very stupid toward Ireland since the war. I am not here as an agent of the English, but I come to present the ideas of the party, of Mr. Redmond and other leaders. Is not Ireland an ally of England? Is not England one of the allies and is on the right side that Ireland should thereby be forced onto the wrong side."

"I do not regard this war as the war of England or of America. The country that makes the greatest appeal to my heart is France. France is recent quite strongly in some unwise things the French government has done during the last 50 years. But does that alter the fact that France has been to Europe and to all the world the great illuminating nation, foremost in art and literature and in preaching the gospel of liberty?"

Frances Leads Civilization

"Germans now talk of no annexation and no indemnity. I know what that means because I recently visited parts of France that had been occupied by Germans where roofs were removed, walls of houses razed to the ground and priests were saying mass in front of devastated chapels. By devastation Germany has already inflicted on France almost as great an indemnity as she exacted after the war of 1870."

"I say that the day that sees the destruction of France will be the beginning of the downfall of civilization throughout the world. The final issue of this war is militarist rule against democracy. German ideas cannot be reconciled with the rights we demand in democratic countries."

"The world today must either keep on the road to true civilization or go back to a condition of savagery. America is bound to take part in a contest where such issues are at stake."

and harbor bill, carrying about $27,000,000 to provide chiefly for the continuance of existing waterway projects.

The bill was passed by the house about a month ago after a stubborn contest. Opponents attacked the measure on the ground that it was "a bad" bill and legislation and charlatanism defending it as a war-time measure.

But few changes were made in the bill as reported to the senate from a committee consisting of a commission composed of members of the cabinet and army officers to make general investigation of waterways. It provides for a commission of two members, one a hydraulic engineer and two civilians.

This provision was expected to furnish the chief contention in the senate.

LOWELL REPUBLICANS TO STATE CONVENTION

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 23.—Lowell republicans are entitled to send forty-four delegates to the republican state convention this year, this being an increase of six over last year's allotment.

As has been the custom for many years, the republican state committee bases representation in the state convention upon each town and in each case of a city. One delegate is allowed for the first seventy-five votes cast for the republican candidate, and an additional delegate for each hundred and fifty votes, and fractions as large as one-half of that number. No matter how small the vote of a town may be, it is entitled to one delegate.

Wards 1, 3, 4, 8 and 9 are the wards which last year each gained one delegate except ward 8, which gains two in the figures published by the committee, however, it is apparent that the error had been made in the case of one of the 100,000 last fall in ward 9, eight delegates being allowed for 462 votes, when in the preceding year only five were allowed for 733 votes; it is probable that the 462 should be 762 and the number would be sufficient to authorize an allotment of seven delegates.

Chairman Bacon of the state committee will transmit today to each ward chairman a letter certifying of the allotment made for his ward, in which the chairman will say:

"In every city there are men who will appreciate the honor and take advantage of the opportunity of going to the republican state convention. I hope extra efforts will be made this year to nominate such men whether or not they have previously attended state conventions. This is the annual gathering of party leaders and every city should send its best representatives."

She has the hypocrisy of saying, "I am for the organization of workingmen, but I do not believe that she will make every effort to obtain an accord between all nations through an international tribunal while on the eve of the war she refused all arbitration."

The entire senate appeared and M. Ribot, who had been a member of the organization in France of a similar and somewhat similar nature, said the police were ordered to pursue every illicit criminal enterprise but he did not think the senate wanted him to take a hostile attitude toward the working class.

M. Ribot closed the debate with an ardent defense of M. Malvy.

She said the organization of workingmen could not be held responsible for the action of anti-patriots who sit in among them. They are in the presence of a nation of savagery which must not be misunderstood," cried M. Ribot.

"Germany has need of peace and she wants to obtain it by no matter what means."

She has the hypocrisy of saying, "I am for the organization of workingmen, but I do not believe that she will make every effort to obtain an accord between all nations through an international tribunal while on the eve of the war she refused all arbitration."

Ribot, who had been a member of the organization in France of a similar and somewhat similar nature, said the police were ordered to pursue every illicit criminal enterprise but he did not think the senate wanted him to take a hostile attitude toward the working class.

During the debate today the general policy of the cabinet was brought into question following consideration of the French offensive of April 16 which has been severely criticized. It has been officially admitted that senior officials were committed and that Gen. Nivelle had been relieved of his command.

The senate spent the entire afternoon and evening finishing in public discussions interpretations which had been submitted on three days' debate and closed doors. When the debate was closed a resolution signed by the presidents of the different groups in the senate, declaring confidence in the government was adopted unanimously.

NIGHT IN COLLISION

Rev. Garrett J. Condon, a Lowell boy who has recently been ordained to the priesthood, celebrated his first mass in this country yesterday morning at the 10:30 o'clock mass at St. Columba church. He was assisted by Rev. Jas. J. Fox, D.D., professor of ethics at Washington University. Rev. Fr. Fox also delivered the sermon. Salos of the mass were given by Miss Frances Condon. At the conclusion of the mass the many relatives and friends of Rev. Condon who were present received his blessing. Rev. P. J. Hally, pastor of St. Columba's, and his assistant, Rev. Fr. McNeil, were also present.

Two beautiful statues of "The Angels" given by Dr. James B. O'Connor as a memorial to his wife, the late Jessie O'Connor, were blessed in the Sacred Heart church last evening in the presence of a large congregation. Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I., blessed the statues and Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., preached the sermon. The service concluded with a solemn benediction by Rev. Fr. McDermott, assisted by Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O.M.I., and Rev. Fr. Flynn.

At the 8:30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday the younger girls of the parish received the first monthly communion. The 8:30 o'clock mass was said by Rev. Patrick L. Crayon.

There were many communicants at the early mass in the various parishes.

Next Thursday will be the Feast of St. John, and will be a day of devotions.

FRENCH HOLD FIRMLY

LONDON, July 23.—While the Russian line south of Brestany in Galicia has begun to crumble, the retreating forces having set fire to Tarnopol and villages to the east, the French are holding tenaciously against the tremendous German offensive in the Chemin-des-Dames district.

Although the German attack thus far has resulted in the capture of many strong points, but on the position and that of no benefit to them, despite heavy casualties, the attack was continued desperately by fresh Teuton troops in the region of Hurtebise and Crayon.

At 11 along a 12-mile front, the Germans delivered a bombardment of tremendous intensity, before the infantry assaults began. The French lines, however, held the attacks firmly and threw back the foe in hand-to-hand fighting, inflicting great losses.

Come early, if interested, as we will show many one-of-a-kind garments, which makes this sale doubly attractive for particular women.

U.S. TO HAVE GREATEST AIR FLEET IN WORLD

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Wilson's approval of the $64,000,000 aviation bill, passed by the senate Saturday was necessary today to set in motion machinery for the creation of the greatest fleet of air fighting craft in the world's history.

The bill today only awaited the signatures of Speaker Clark and Vice President Marshall before being rushed to the White House where the president is expected to sign it by noon.

"While details of the plan for the construction of the great air fleet have not been disclosed, it is generally known that the bill is intended to provide for about 22,000 airmen and almost 10,000 men to operate them.

LOWELL'S EXEMPTION BOARDS MEET

The members of Lowell's exemption boards met at city hall yesterday afternoon and voted to hold sessions at their respective headquarters daily from 2 to 4:30 in the afternoon and 7 to 9 o'clock at night, for the examination of men drawn for the national army, the first session to begin immediately upon the receipt of the official list from Washington. In all probability it will be at least another week before the official list will be received.

Many points were raised by members and were discussed in a thorough manner, and it was apparent that all of the members were conversant with the instructions received from Washington and the board will be ready to answer any of the many technical questions which will be brought to their attention.

FOOD BILL IN HOUSE PASSED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The administration's food control bill, passed by the senate Saturday after more than five weeks' bitter contest, was back today in the hands of the house. The house was expected to disagree to the senate amendment and the bill sent to conference probably tomorrow where differences between the two houses will be threshed out. Leaders were hopeful today that the measure would be sent to President Wilson for his signature by the end of the week.

The senate prohibition section prohibiting manufacture and distribution during the war and directing the president to purchase all distilled spirits and was substituted for the house "bone dry" provision, and will be one of the difficulties to be overcome in conference. Another will be the senate amendment for a board of food administration of three members instead of a single member as provided in the house bill.

Prohibitionists to Fight

WASHINGTON, July 23.—House prohibitionists declared today they would fight some of the senate liquor amendments to the food bill uncompromisingly, regardless of appeals for Senate agreement. Dry leaders tried to make it clear, however, the form in which they left the house—"bone dry"—for the duration of the war.

The house drys concede it may be impossible for them to restore that absolute prohibition or manufacture of beer and wine, but they hope to at least get in a section giving the president power to limit or prohibit their production.

Pres. Wilson to Take Hand

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Wilson probably will bring his personal influence to bear on senate and house conferees on the food bill to accept the house provision for a single food administrator instead of the board of three that may take a hand in some of the other conflicting sections.

President Wilson is understood to prefer the senate prohibition section forbidding manufacture of distilled liquors but allowing the manufacture of beer and wine. The house put in a "bone dry" section.

A congressional committee has opposed a presidential committee to investigate the conduct of the war, and there is no reason to believe he will favor such an amendment to the bill.

"We had such a good time planning our house and selecting the things for it," said a young bride of last month recently.

And she struck the keynote of life when she said it.

It is anticipation that lures us on and on to bigger broader and brighter things. It is the off and on training for experience and get knowledge. Then we start out after something more.

The fundamental of life is what makes our store so successful to our customers. Always something new shown. Changes are made daily, new arrangements of stock, departments are reorganized, windows are rearranged, all to satisfy that universal desire to make the store more interesting and that is one of the things we are constantly trying to do for friends of Challfouxs.

Considerable time was devoted to the discussion of any attempt on the part of anyone to influence the boards in their decisions to the selection of men. Judge Thomas J. Broderick, who is the chairman of the exemption board, said that the rule would be adopted by the boards to prevent influences from being brought to bear to have men exempted. The manual relative to the boards in dealing with the matter to consist of fourteen members was read and the following directions relative to attempts to influence are very important:

"No man should be exempted or discharged unless he is clearly entitled to it, and the committee recommends that the exemption should always be such as will not protect the individual the moment the disability for which it is granted ceases to exist."

"Again, it is inevitable that individual members of the board, and at

Vote Unlimited Powers to Premier Kerensky to Restore Public Order

Council of Soldiers and Workmen's Delegates and Peasants of All Russia Look to Kerensky to Save Revolution From Catastrophe

"Unlimited powers" have been granted the Russian provisional government under Premier Kerensky to grapple with the sinister forces threatening to wreck the new Russia, born of the March revolution.

The grant comes from the most powerful representative body in the nation, the council of soldiers and workmen's delegates and peasants of all Russia assembled in Petrograd.

Virtual Dictator

The title of the ruling body, the "Government of National Safety," recalls immediately the famous committee of public safety of 1793, formed in the crucial period of the French revolution. Mr. Kerensky serving not only as premier, but as minister of war and marine, it is apparent that his powers are thus lodged in the hands of a virtual dictator.

Disaster Threatened

In the former war theatre there is little sign as yet of a change in the emperor or the disaffected Russian

Restore Public Order

The mandate of this committee is to restore public order, both at the front and at home—admittedly a difficult task in the face of the revolution which continues with and without the nation working against the present regime. It is evidently one, however, with which Kerensky, concededly the strongest man to be found for the task, is willing to grapple with all his recognized forces.

The present situation for the moment demands consideration chiefly at the two points where the Germans have concentrated their main military efforts—the yielding portion of the Russian front in eastern Galicia and the section of the French front near Craonne.

Crisis Threatened

In the former war theatre there is little sign as yet of a change in the emperor or the disaffected Russian troops sufficient to bring about an effective resistance to the Teutonic progress which threatens disaster to the Russian cause.

French Hold Firmly

On the western front there is a different story to tell. The desperate onslaughts of the crown prince's forces are being met with gallant resistance by Gen. Petain's troops and such small bits of territory as have been gained by the Germans have been dearly paid for.

Last night the German assaults were renewed on the California and Casemates plateau, the mastary of which colonial efforts are being made on both these elevations, but General Petain's men are clinging bravely to them both, although driven out of first line trenches. The Germans attacked the support trench on the California plateau but it was retained by the French in its entirety.

Mandamus Hearings Tomorrow

Three mandamus hearings are scheduled to be held before the supreme judicial court in Boston tomorrow as follows: Andrew G. Stiles, former treasurer, vs. the members of the municipal council for reinstatement in office. Andrew G. Stiles vs. Judge Edward F. Casey, to have the latter paid by the city for services rendered him.

Corporation of Boston vs. the members of the municipal council for reinstatement in office.

THE FOOD CONSERVATION CAMPAIGN

The campaign for the "recruiting" of women under the banner of the Lowell women's council of the national defense committee for the conservation of food is finished in this city and the women in charge are elated over the result obtained. The number of signatures of housekeepers and women over 16 years of age obtained was 10,780, which means that practically every house in Lowell has been visited by the volunteer canvassers.

The campaign for the securing of names is closed which means that the food conservation campaign is on in the city and that the housekeepers of the city are now doing and will do their utmost until the end of the war to avoid waste of food. The cards bearing the signatures of the women were packed up and sent to Boston.

The funeral arrangements are in charge of George W. Henley.

No official attempt beyond the draft regulations has been made to define the exact status married men need to secure discharge. It is certain that men whose wives are not dependent on their labor for support will be accepted for service.

It will be up to local boards to determine to what extent a wife depends on her husband's labor, and they will judge this according to the nature of the affidavits filed.

Eligibles are warned against falsifying these affidavits. The federal government will vigorously prosecute all cases where there is evidence of perjury. This policy, it is said, will also be applied to men in charge of industries who grossly exaggerate the importance of employees called by the draft. A number of districts are concerned throughout the country are preparing to do this through exemption for over employee possible who is called.

The exemption machinery in every section of the country is being rapidly perfected and officials here believe they will be ready to take up exemption cases in every state in the Union within the next 8 or 10 days.

Checking the official tally sheets of the draft was about complete today and printing the master sheets which will guide local exemption boards in summoning the men selected for exemption. The sheets probably will start out in the mails late today.

Regulations to govern the application of the master list by the local exemption boards already have been promulgated and include a method by which any difficulties will arise from the fact that numbers are not overcome. The plan is to regard such registration cards as additional to the number already provided and the local lists. A separate drawing will be held by state authorities to place these additional cards and such cards as may have come in by mail since they will then be appended to the registration list of their district and be immediately affected by the selection drawing of last Friday just as though they had been included in the list at that time.

Officials of Provost Marshal General Crowder's office were preparing today for the great number of inquiries and requests for rulings which they expect from the local boards. The first applications of the men for the first quotas begin. Probably it will take several days for the boards to become thoroughly familiar with their work. After that officials expect, the examinations and exemptions of men or their certification to the higher boards for military duty will proceed rapidly. The boards after the local boards begin operations the state boards also will be able to begin their work and take up questions of industrial exemptions as rapidly as they arise.

IN LOWELL

Capt. Needham of Battery F held a conference with Armorer Hunt at the armory in Westford street this morning in regard to preparations for mustering the battery when it should be mobilized next Wednesday. Just how long the unit will remain at the armory is still a question. Capt. Needham says it may be 24 hours or a week. On account of the warm weather and restricted accommodations of the armory it is doubtful if the men will be compelled to remain in the fortress any longer than absolutely necessary. The men will have to take a physical examination preparatory to being mustered into the federal service, but whether this will take place at the armory or at camp in Boxford is not yet known.

The officers of the Mass. Artillery companies are to meet in Boston to-night to discuss plans and methods of the mobilization. The Lowell officers will attend.

Several young men have asked to enlist in the battery to take the places of those who may be discharged by the federal examination. However, the battery has a waiting list of 10 men and it is doubtful if any new comers can be received for some time.

The commissioned officers of the battery have been mustered into the federal service. Lieut. Paige has been appointed adjutant of the battalion, which Battery F is a part of. The remaining drill to be held tomorrow evening is a successor to the Lieutenant will be elected. Final instructions for the mobilization will also be given to the men at the drill. The uniforms have been given to the men and will be ready for issue when the order is given to sail in Wednesday morning.

Maj. Howell of the Coast Artillery corps of the regular army with two assistants was at the armory this morning examining candidates for the second camp at Plattsburgh, which opens Aug. 7. This was originally to be held at the armory, Lt. Major, Maj. Howell has been changed to Plattsburgh.

Up until noon the major had examined approximately 35 men. They came from all over Middlesex county, and from a glance at the long line of automobiles outside the armory one would think that all kinds of so-called gypsies were here. An actual crowd of applicants appeared in the afternoon. Both mental and physical exams were given.

The two Sixth regiments, battalions which are on the way from Framingham to Ayer are expected to reach their destination on Friday. The start was made Saturday and yesterday the outfit had reached Acton. The soldiers struck the hottest days of the summer for their little jaunt, and it will undoubtedly be with a sigh of relief that they lay down their heavy equipment this evening.

Regular Army Recruiting

Capt. John A. Pearson of the regular army who has achieved great success in Lawrence in recruiting for his branch of the service will open up a few days' campaign in this city Wednesday. The Lowell committee on public safety and the military organization of the city have consented to his use of the armory for that time.

It is planned to have a series of street parades to be followed by speeches on the street corners or in the armory.

Wednesday night the Spanish war veterans' company of the local guard will march and will be accompanied by other members of the Albermarle Ames camp, U.S.W.V. Thursday night the business men's company of the state guard will do the honors while Friday evening Battery F will stand.

It is in the opinion of that time Saturday the French-American company of the guard will parade.

According to indications now the draft exemption boards will not call any men for about a week, and in that interval the men who have been called may join the regular army and have some time to go to what part of the service they wish to work in. It is expected, therefore, that there will be a number of enlistments as the result of the coming campaign.

John Coughlin, 16, Lakeview avenue, Belmont, Boston, 23 Summer street, and Albert Benjamin of Chelmsford have recently applied for enlistment in the regular army.

The officers of the local naval recruiting station wish to make it clear that young men who have been drafted still have an opportunity of enlisting in different branches of the navy. Bandmen, wireless operators and chemists are in especial demand at present.

The following young men were accepted recently: Arthur F. Garland, Salem Depot, N. H.; Walter F. O'Brien, 28 West street; John F. London, Lawrence, and James J. Hayes of Lawrence.

William Nitzeck of the local school took part in the parade while the Lawrence contingent of the Knights of Columbus conducted in the down-river city Saturday afternoon. The parade was preparatory to a field day which was held for the war camp fund.

SIAM AT WAR WITH CENTRAL POWERS

LONDON, July 23.—Siam has declared that a state of war exists with Germany and Austria, according to a telegraphic despatch from Bangkok. Nine steamers, aggregating 16,000 tons, have been seized.

The object of Siam's declaration is to uphold the sanctity of international rights against nations showing contempt for the principles of humanity and respect for small states.

All Germans and Austrians, the despatch adds, have been arrested under arrest and their businesses closed.

Siam, the "land of free," a kingdom of southeastern Asia, has a population of probably more than 8,000,000. Universal liability to military service is in force in all the provinces. The peace strength of the army is about 12,000 men, while the navy consists nominally of 21 vessels, all of small size. In peace there are 500 men available for service afloat, besides a reserve of 20,000. In the 19th century diplomatic relations were established with the United States and the European nations.

EXEMPTION BOARDS

times the entire board, itself, will be required of them the utmost honesty, integrity, fairness and justice. It is not improbable that on occasions (it is hoped rare), every argument and device induced by the board, and no noble cause can devise will be used to induce them to turn from the path of their duty.

"It is not supposed that any member of the local board will yield himself to such influences, but as such influences will tend to hinder and obstruct the due administration of the law, it is well for the boards to have in mind that among the more apparent ways of putting an end to such influences is to determine, of which the public should be advised, not only to look with the greatest disfavor upon such influences, but also to associate with the utmost care all claims advanced by or on behalf of the person in whose favor that influence is brought to make certain that he does not escape service unless his real disability is clearly established.

"An absolute refusal to discuss any question connected with the work of the board with any person not a member of the board or representing the government, except in and during a public meeting of the board.

"An impartial practice of reporting to the federal authorities any and every person either corruptly or improperly attempting to influence the board in the discharge of its duties and functions, so that the full penalty of the laws may be applied to such person.

There has been more or less discussion as to whether or not a person who has taken out his first papers is liable to be drafted. He certainly is according to the rules and regulations prescribed by the president for local and district boards, section 11, reads, "Such draft as herein provided shall be based upon ability to enlisted men of all nationalities or nationalities not alien enemies who have declared their intention to become citizens between the ages of 31 and 30 years, both inclusive and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the president may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this act."

No drafts of Germany, however, whether or not he has taken out his initial papers will be drafted, for the regulations read that:

"No subject of Germany residing in the United States, whether he has taken out his first papers or not, will be accepted for service. When in the opinion of a local board, any person called for service in a subject of Germany, whether he has or has not declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, or whether he, or some other person, in the opinion of him, has or has not filed a claim of exemption, he shall be exempted and a certificate of complete exemption issued to him."

Wives as Dependents

There was a difference of opinion relative to wives being generally considered as dependents, even though they have no children, if their physical condition is good and they are capable of earning their own living. Up to the present time the exemption of a married man is discretionary on the part of the members of the boards, after they have made the necessary inquiries into the case.

Then, again, it was said that the Massachusetts law compels men to support their wives, and that therefore any married woman is a dependent. This was the view of one of the members present. Another view is of a case wherein the wife in question is possessed of considerable means, while the husband is not forced to support her. In that case, it was felt, the wife could not be considered as a dependent in any way.

Judge Enright was specially emphatic relative to the non-exemption of men, of whatever race, who have taken out their first papers. Such men, he said, are liable to service, providing they pass the physical test and are not considered to have dependents. All men who have taken out their first papers, except Germans or their allies, who are classed as enemy aliens, must be considered as eligibles, said the judge.

Physical Examinations

Physical examinations will be made by two physicians, one of them the physician of the board, and in cases where the two physicians reject a man as physically unfit, the members of the board may refuse to accept their statements and accept the man for service.

However, in cases where the physicians pass the man as physically fit, the members of the boards must accept that decision and accept the men so far as physical condition enters into the matter of acceptance.

If the computations from the governor's office are correct, 34,000 men will be drafted from this city. The figures are that 9,000 will be drawn from district one, which comprises wards 1, 5 and 9; 8,000 from district two, comprising wards 2 and 3; 10,200 from district three, comprising wards 4, 7 and 8, and 6,600 from district four, which is confined to ward 5.

In the governor's figures, he gives credit to 100 men to the city of Lowell, making its total quota for service 34,000, of 12,650. This does not take into consideration men who have enlisted in the navy, inasmuch as the present draft is for the army alone.

At yesterday's meeting it was stated that the public will be instantly informed as to the time for the opening of sessions for the examination of drafted men.

More Draft Numbers

The following list of names in addition to those which appeared in the Sun on Saturday represent the first half of those drawn in districts two and three, and as Lowell's draft liability is 354, the registrants whose names do not appear either in Saturday's or today's lists can make up their minds that they will not be drawn:

THE WAR DRAFT

The drawing for the new American armies is now an accomplished fact. It was brought about with admirable celerity and fairness. Every possible precaution was taken to make it honest. There was no opportunity for juggling or favoritism, absolutely no chance to fix things so some youngster with social pull, a fat bank account or political prominence might be set either ahead or behind others.

Numbers which applied alike to every district in the United States were put into capsules placed in a large glass bowl. These capsules were constantly stirred by a blindfolded man. Another blindfolded man drew them out one by one.

The numbers were then publicly announced in the presence of army officers charged with the duty, the military committees of congress, and representatives of the newspapers. These numbers are applied in the same order in the most crowded cities and in the most sparsely populated plains of the west.

They are determined by a true lottery. By this means, rich and poor, the New York millionaire, the Arizona irrigation trench digger and the Lowell mill operative were placed upon the same plane.

This is the American plane which declares all men born free and equal in their political and legal rights, and, by the same process of thought, implies that all are alike equal in the responsibilities of American citizenship. As a result every man of army age now knows approximately when he will be called up for examination for army service. His number is one of honor. It indicates his place in the American reservoir of man-power.

Those in the first batch are especially to be envied by true patriots as theirs is the first opportunity to serve their country.

That is what the draft at Washington meant for our young manhood, for America, and for the world. It was made a solemn occasion, rightly. When men are thrilled to the soul with the fervor of the deepest patriotism, when they are performing a rite which determines the highest service of our best and bravest, it is fitting that there shall be no silly pomp.

But this drawing is but preliminary. It puts all available men on record as such, and the real draft will come subsequently from the exemption boards, who will have to select the men who will be called upon to enter the service of the United States. Those boards will name men for the draft list in the order of precedence in which they were drawn at Washington.

Hence, it is plain that the only interest in the present list is, that it shows in what order the men will be drafted, assuming that they are chosen by the exemption boards.

Hence, the registrants will all have to visit the offices of their respective exemption boards in order to receive instructions as to what is required of them. In the first place, it is arranged to notify the registrants by mail. On their appearance before the exemption boards they will enter upon the course of examination which is to decide whether they will be drafted or exempted.

Alien enemies and aliens not eligible will not be subject to physical examination. In other cases the first step will be to decide the question of physical fitness. Other considerations will be taken later. Thus will the great army of the United States be made up; but it is stated that the men now to be drafted for training will not be ready for the field till next spring. The war may wind up before that time.

We are face to face with a great epoch in the world's history, a great cataclysm in the progress of civilization. It is a conflict between the principle that might makes right and that of justice to all men and all nations in a general declaration of world freedom based upon the consent of the governed.

Millions of men have already been sacrificed, and the end is not yet in sight, but as to the ultimate triumph of world freedom there can be no doubt. The war will prove expensive to the United States, but whereas it will have immensely weakened every other power involved, it will only serve to strengthen the United States and to put the people in a condition to defend our institutions against the very worst possibilities that can arise and to prepare us to meet any economic upheaval that may follow the war. It can hereafter be said that the entrance of the United States to this war, and that alone, will decide the war in favor of world democracy and freedom. In that light the glory that will rebound to this nation as the world liberator and the savior of civilization against German domination, conquest and commercial exploitation will mark an imperishable epoch in our history.

THE DRAFT IN LOWELL

There seems to be a misunderstanding here in Lowell relative to the drawing of draft numbers at Washington. By many it is supposed that the persons whose numbers are drawn, barring exemptions, are thereby selected for service. Such is not the case, for the numbers drawn include the entire 10,000,000 registered throughout the nation, and the war department does not want to call that number nor even one tenth of that number.

The registered men in each district, whether city or town in the United States will be called for examination by the exemption boards in the order in which their numbers were drawn at Washington. The numbers in the districts range from one up to 10,500. The men numbered 258, the first number to be drawn, will be called first and then the others in the sequence in which their respective numbers were drawn until the required quota is made up. The highest number in the Lowell districts is 3,222. None higher applies here.

To determine whether any registered man is likely to be drafted, look up where his number came in the list of numbers drawn. His ability to draft will vary with his distance from the first number. It is considered probable that the first 2000 to 2500 numbers drawn will give the nation all the men needed. Owing to the small quota from Lowell the first 1000 numbers drawn will surely furnish the required number of men. The numbers published in The Sun of Friday, Saturday and today will probably include all likely to be selected in Lowell.

Here in Lowell the situation is not alarming as to the number of men required. It is announced now, that cities with a population over 30,000 will be credited with their enlisted men. It appears also that Lowell's credit for enlistments is 912, which deducted from the original quota of 1266, leaves only 354 to be drafted. At first it was reckoned at 782 and, if the lower figures prove to be correct, the draft will not be nearly so serious to Lowell as was at first supposed.

MOVING PICTURES

Some weeks ago President Wilson appointed William A. Brady, the motion picture magnate, to organize the motion picture industry so as to cooperate with the committee on public information in disseminating intelligence bearing upon the war. As the pictures speak a universal language, they can be used to great advantage in showing military movements and other features of training for actual warfare. Needless to say, Mr. Brady accepted the task very cordially, so that in due time the people of this country will see the result of his work. It is understood, however, that the main object of President Wilson's action in the matter is to provide amusement and instruction for the men in training. This shows another very useful application of the moving picture film. Mr. Brady has made the statement that the picture industry has been developed to the utmost except along educational lines, but it is being applied to this purpose even now in many of the western states. It is peculiarly adapted for instruction, especially in the graphic arts, and in such subjects as physical geography, natural history and many industrial lines.

It does not require an effort of the imagination to see how the movies may be successfully applied in conveying instruction in the sciences and other branches of a general education. The time is not far distant when the school department of every city will be equipped to illustrate many subjects of instruction by moving pictures. There can be no doubt that by a skillful application of the movies in the class room, the course of study in the elementary schools can be shortened by at least one year.

Teachers look forward with great hopefulness to the time when, by the use of the film, they may be able to interest and instruct children who seem to resist all efforts in that direction by present methods.

THE HURLEYS

The C. M. A. C. had little or no difficulty in taking the measure of the Hurleys at Golden Cove Park Saturday afternoon. The former team sent four men across the plate in the first inning and then let up on the visitors the final score being 10 to 3. "Connie" Constantineau was on the mound for the Pawtucket street team and did not mind who opposed him to the bench. He also slammed out two hits and scored three runs. Garvan of the visiting aggregation was very much to the bad, striking out but three men and allowing four passes. McVey and LeBourdais of the C. M. A. C. contributed three baggers while W. Sullivan sent out two doubles.

GOOD RACING AT GOLDEN COVE PARK

The lovers of harness racing were given a rare treat Saturday afternoon at Golden Cove park when the Lowell Driving club conducted a series of well contested races. The feature event was the match race for one mile between Hudson's Foxy Grandpa and Wotton's Billiken Chimes, the former winning in straight heats.

The mile trot was carried off by Billiken, but it took four heats to do the job. Grace Conroy won the half mile pace in straight heats and Peter Red Jr. was to the front in the half mile colt race. The mile trot brought out four starters but Sterling F. proved to be an easy winner.

A FEW IFS FOR THOSE SEEKING EXEMPTION

If you desire exemption you must file a claim for it, or someone must file a claim in your behalf. Forms are to be provided by your board for this purpose.

The fact that on June 4 you may have indicated on your registration card that you claim exemption, is not a claim for exemption. Apparently there is nothing in the regulations that prevents even an alien or a government official from serving if he does not file a claim for exemption.

There are two classes of exemption claims.

Within seven days after you are called you may claim exemption with your local board.

If you are a federal or state official.

If you are a minister or student of divinity.

If you are in the military or naval service.

If you are an alien enemy or any other alien who has not taken out first papers.

If you are a county or municipal official.

MEETING OF O.M.I. CADETS TOMORROW NIGHT

This order will be issued to the members of the O.M.I. Cadets next Monday morning, and the boys are busy this week getting ready for the call. This year the young soldiers will have the experience of camping while the country is at war, and hence more importance is attached to the plan than ever before.

While military tactics predominated always, this year many new and novel military maneuvers will occupy a place on the program. The various branches of modern warfare will be taken up, and the boys will receive detailed instructions and training in trench digging, etc.

The Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I. chaplain, will be present during the entire week, and will have general supervision of the encampment. He will be assisted by Physical Instructor Matt McCann, Joseph Boyd, Sr., and the competent staff of officers and nurses.

Final orders will be issued at an important meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. Major Conroy and Fr. Sullivan will speak, and every boy who intends to go to camp must be on hand.

TRIAL OF MRS. MOONEY FOR MURDER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—The trial for Mrs. Rena Mooney for murder was expected to terminate today, a year and a day after the bomb explosion at a Preparedness day here which killed ten persons and injured forty. Mrs. Mooney is charged with the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Irene Van Loo, one of the victims.

Assistant District Attorney Louis expects to conclude his closing argument in time for Judge Emmett Seawell to charge the jury before court adjourns for the day.

U.S. AIRFORCES IN FRANCE UNDER SINGLE HEAD

IT IS, July 23.—Plans have been completed for bringing all American aviation forces here under a single direction, working in conjunction with other military units. Airplane squadrons will be divided into two classes, tactical and strategic. The former will operate within a range or 25 kilometers and the latter within a range or 200 kilometers.

The tactical units will co-operate directly with the troops, doing preliminary reconnoitering, pursuing enemy aviators, and bombing enemy establishments. The strategic squadrons in general will operate independently. They will be engaged in destroying enemy defenses and attacking supply bases, depots and factories. They will also take part in aerial fighting and dog fighting.

Observation balloons will be used largely as an adjunct to the artillery.

It is ordered that hereafter the names of no American officers except Major General Pershing and Major General Sibert be mentioned in news despatch.

His Testimonial

Now Freely Given
A Well Known Lowell Man Pays a Glowing Tribute to Plant Juice

A great specialist at one time, compared the human system to a delicate piece of mechanism, saying, "The flues need cleaning, the valves re-adjusting, the shafts oiling, and the drive-wheel more energy."

JOSEPH OUELETTE

Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, now being introduced here, may be likened to the human repair shop. It puts the stomach, the keynote of the human system, in proper repair, causing it to digest food properly, corrects constipation, purifies the blood, eliminates uric acid—the cause of rheumatism, opens the skin pores and lets out the poison, cleans the system, stimulates the kidneys, and puts a sluggish liver back to performing its proper functions, thereby laying the foundation for a new lease of life.

That Plant Juice is doing this work, and doing it well, the testimonials of grateful people, who have been benefited, prove most conclusively. Day by day more people are coming forward with signed statements regarding this truly wonderful preparation.

The other day, Mr. Joseph Ouellette, who resides at the Navy Yard at Lowell, and is a well known farmer, having a wide acquaintance in this city, stated:

"I have suffered for nine years with my stomach, and all the food I ate seemed to ferment and cause gas to form; I was in such pain that I could not sleep at night and felt weak and all tired out; I finally got so bad that I had to quit my work; I had headaches, was nervous and dizzy, had palpitation, and at times it seemed as if I could hardly get my breath; I thought I had heart trouble. I began to take Plant Juice, upon the recommendation of a friend, and now am feeling the best I have in years; I can now eat all I want without the least distress afterwards. I sleep well and the gas left my system. I am recommending Plant Juice to everyone who is troubled with their stomach, liver or kidneys. It certainly is a wonder."

at all Catholic societies of the United States in one gigantic organization to aid and assist, both materially and spiritually, all of the Catholic soldiers and sailors who are now serving and will later serve the country.

The preliminary plans have been under way for some weeks, and the movement has the approval and sanction of the three American cardinals—Gibbons of Baltimore, Farley of New York and O'Connell of Boston. In addition to these the score or more of archbishops and the hundreds of bishops in the various dioceses will all be actively engaged in this work, and the outcome is to be a centralization of the work with the headquarters located in this city, in all probability.

The movement has nothing in view but it is felt that the contribution which could be brought forth from a nation-wide movement of this character under the direction of the Catholic church officials would be so much greater than in any other form that the undertaking from the first step has received remarkable impetus.

and harbor bill, carrying about $27,000,000 to provide chiefly for the continuation of existing waterway projects.

The bill was passed by the house a month ago after a stubborn contest. Opponents attacked the measure on the ground that it was "pork barrel" legislation and champions defending it as a war time measure.

Some new changes were made in the bill as reported to the senate from the commerce committee. Instead of the cabinet committee objecting to a general investigation of waterways it provides for a commission of two army officers, five hydraulic engineers and two civilians.

This provision was expected to furnish the chief contention in the senate.

Ally of Blood-Stained Turk

"I remember the visit of the kaiser to Jerusalem, clad in white armor, the champion of Christendom. But before that he had visited the Sultan of Turkey, with whom he had exchanged treason speeches and rich presents. Do you realize that only a short time before 300,000 Armenian Christians had been murdered by Turks and that the kaiser grasped the bloody hand of the ruler that was reeking with their blood? Today accountants are doubtful as to whether the total number massacred is 500,000 or $500,000.

"I ask any man with Christian blood in his veins if it not preposterous that a Christian monarch should be the ally of a blood-stained monster like the Turk? How can I, an Irishman, brought up in my principles, before issues like those, take any side but that of the powers that are going to protect the Pole, the Italian, Belgian and Armenian?

"Some of my race regard my position as wrong. But whatever he may have thought in the past, I cannot understand how any American or Irish blood and aspirations can ask where he is to stand in this war.

One Course for an Irishman

"I believe America is rightly in this war. Her honor and her security are in it. If you are loyal American citizens you cannot be on any side in this war, save the American side. You cannot be both pro-German and pro-American. You must make your choice. All discussion was buried from the moment this nation entered the war.

"To my mind there can be only one course for an Irishman, an American with Irish blood in his veins, on the side of principle, of nationalities, of the rights of small nations, to be on the side of the allies.

"I do not deny that England has been very cruel to Ireland in the past and very stupid toward Ireland in the conduct of the war. I am not here as an agent of the English but I come to present the views of the party of Mr. Redmond and other leaders. I do not believe that because England is one of the allies and is on the right side that Ireland should thereby be forced onto the wrong side.

"I do not regard this war as the war of England or of America. The country that makes the greatest appeal to my heart is France. I resent quite strongly some unwise things the French government has done during the last 50 years. But we must realize that France has been to Europe and to all the world the great illuminating nation, foremost in art and literature and in preaching the gospel of liberty?

France Leads Civilization

"Germans now talk of an annexation and no independence. I know what that means, because I recently visited parts of France that had been occupied by Germans, where roofs were removed, walls of houses razed to the ground, and plates were scattered about the devastated places. By definition Germany has already inflicted on France almost as great an indemnity as she exacted after the war of 1870.

"I say that the day that sees the destruction of our civilization is the beginning of the downfall of civilization throughout the world. The final issue of this war is militaristic rule against democracy. German ideas cannot be reconciled with the rights we demand in democratic countries.

"The world today must either keep on the road to true civilization or go back to a condition of savagery. America is bound to take part in a contest where such issues are at stake."

Lemons Beautify!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness of which it has been robbed by trying atmospheric conditions. Windchills, roughness, tan and redness are warded off and those tell-tale lines of care or of age are softened away.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole onion pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quartar pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

Two beautiful statues of "The Angels" given by Dr. James E. O'Connor as a memorial to his wife, the late Jennie Noble O'Connor, were erected at the Sacred Heart church last evening in the presence of a large congregation. Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I., blessed the statues and Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., preached the sermon. The services concluded with solemn benediction. Rev. Dr. John O'Connor, assisted by Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O.M.I., and Rev. Fr. Flynn.

At the 8:30 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday the younger girls of the parish received their regular monthly communion. The 11 o'clock mass was said by Rev. Patrick D. Crayton.

There were many communions at the early masses in the various parishes.

Next Thursday will be the Feast of St. Anne, and will be a day of devotion.

LOWELL REPUBLICANS TO STATE CONVENTION

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 23.—Lowell republicans are entitled to send forty-four delegates to the republican state convention this year, this being an increase of six over last year's allotment.

As has been the custom for many years, the republican state committee has representation in the state convention by a delegation of four to seven members.

The bill was passed by the house a month ago after a stubborn contest. Opponents attacked the measure on the ground that it was "pork barrel" legislation and champions defending it as a war time measure.

Some new changes were made in the bill as reported to the senate from the commerce committee. Instead of the cabinet committee objecting to a general investigation of waterways it provides for a commission of two army officers, five hydraulic engineers and two civilians.

HEARING ON TRADING WITH ENEMY BILL

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A senate sub-committee today began hearings on administration trading with the enemy bill already passed by the house, with Secretary Redfield and others appearing to advocate prompt action.

The bill is patterned after Great Britain's trading with the enemy act. Its chief features are prohibitions against business intercourse with any country with which the United States is at war or its allies, exemption and privilege of government seizure of property of alien enemies and enemy patents.

"I ask any man with Christian blood in his veins if it not preposterous that a Christian monarch should be the ally of a blood-stained monster like the Turk? How can I, an Irishman, brought up in my principles, before issues like those, take any side but that of the powers that are going to protect the Pole, the Italian, Belgian and Armenian?
